

JOURNEY TO THE PRIESTHOOD

Deacon LaRocca to be ordained on Sept. 6

By Pamela Seal

LAKE CHARLES — As he draws closer to his priesthood ordination, Deacon Hunter LaRocca said that his prayer has been, "Lord, I just want to be a good priest. Please make me a good priest. This is all I want to do."

His Excellency, Bishop Glen John Provost, will ordain Rev. Mr. Hunter Thomas LaRocca to the Sacred Order of Holy Priesthood for the Diocese of Lake Charles at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, September 6, in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

"I never thought I was the most worthy person to undertake something as important as becoming a priest, nevertheless, I feel convicted that this is what God wants from me," LaRocca shared. "I pray that He will give me the grace to live out this vocation with fidelity."

A parishioner of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Lake Charles, Hunter is the 29-year-old son of Kurt and Kara Smith of Oberlin, and the late Barry LaRocca. He is also the younger brother to Ryan LaRocca.

A graduate of Lacassine High School, it was during his college years when Hunter took notice of how God was speaking to him through others.

"I first heard the call to the priesthood in my twenties, but it was as early as grade school when people were telling me that I would make a good priest," he recalled. LaRocca admits dismissing their comments thinking the priesthood was not for him.

"I think the calling was more evidenced when I had a reversion back to the Catholic faith as a young adult. I started thinking about what God wanted me to do with my life," said LaRocca, who was working in the banking industry at the time.

"The more often people would comment on how I would be a good priest, I would stop and think to myself, 'Alright God, what are you trying to tell me through these people? You obviously have something to say to me,'" Deacon LaRocca noted, ready to place his life in God's hands.

Hunter credits a year of living at the Vianney House, with Father

Deacon Hunter LaRocca

Nathan Long as director at the time, in helping him realize he was ready to apply to Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans.

"When I finally saw more specifically what a priest does day in and day out, I really felt called to this vocation," he said. "I finally started to see more and more of myself in the role of a priest, and I felt peace in that."

Deacon LaRocca's advice to those discerning a vocation to the priesthood is first and foremost prayer. From his earliest memories of childhood, prayer is something that has always been a part of his life.

LaRocca also encourages young men not to be afraid of committing to a decision for fear of not knowing how things will turn out.

"Even if a man has discerned that he wants to go to seminary and then ends up leaving, he will be a better person for it in the long run," he said. "I always felt a sense of belonging at the seminary. The community of brothers was the best part and is the thing I miss most."

A few books that proved helpful during LaRocca's discernment process include An Introduction to the Devout Life by St. Francis de Sales, The Imitation of Christ by Thomas A. Kempis, and To Save a Thousand Souls by Father Brett Brennan.

Diaconate Assignment

Deacon LaRocca has been serving at the Cathedral after completing his philosophy and theological studies at Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans with a Master of Divinity degree in December 2024.

His diaconate assignment these past eight months has been "nothing short of eventful," he said.

"Since I came into a parish right in the midst of the busiest time of the year, it was quite a different thing to experience compared to summer assignments. It was great to see the Cathedral in full swing, especially with extra diocesan events," he remarked. "Having a school also provided more things to be a part of — school Masses, teaching a class, Catholic Schools Week, graduations, ceremonies, and more."

LaRocca said that while he did gain experience through various ministries as a seminarian, taking on the role as deacon being able to celebrate the sacraments of baptism and marriage, preaching and serving as a deacon at Mass, and being able to bless objects and people, has been a "huge blessing and a joy."

"I have been preparing for the past five to six years to serve the people of this Diocese, and now I am seeing that preparation coming to fruition," he said. "That is one of the most beautiful things to witness, and I am blessed every day that the Lord allows me to see how He is working in the lives of His people."

Next to the sacraments, one of LaRocca's favorite things about being a deacon is preaching homilies.

"My first homily was very nerve wracking, however, overtime I have become much more comfortable in my own preaching style and delivery," he commented. "One rule of thumb I stick to with preaching is 'land the plane.' I never try to go too long. Conciseness and brevity is the key."

Living Out His Vocation

When asked how he can be a vessel to keep the Light of Christ shining for younger Catholics in the Diocese of Lake Charles, Deacon LaRocca has observed that younger people today are looking for others who are genuine and authentic.

"As a Church, we need to show the younger generation that there is joy in every vocation, whether it is Priesthood, Religious, Consecrated, or Married life," noted LaRocca. "I know for me, I was always inspired by priests who lived out their vocation with an immense amount of joy who were authentic and genuine about it."

Hunter said he is grateful for the prayers and support of his family. In addition, he has been encouraged

Deacon Hunter LaRocca offers a special blessing to his mother and stepfather, Kara and Kurt Smith of Oberlin, following his diaconate ordination earlier this year on Saturday, March 29, in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. along his journey through the support of many priests.

"One of the biggest inspirations for me has been through the example of so many of priests serving in our diocese who live out their vocation with joy and fidelity," he shared. "I would also add that Bishop Provost has been a huge inspiration and a model to follow for how to live out a life of service to the Church."

Deacon LaRocca is grateful for the formation he received in the seminary, acknowledging that trusting in the process was one of the hardest parts.

"Seminary formation is when the Church tries to form the man in four different ways — human, spiritual, intellectual, and pastoral. For someone to basically change who they are as a person as a whole is not easy," said LaRocca. "But this is because the Church deserves only the best when it comes to Her priests."

Since being ordained a deacon earlier this year on March 29, Hunter said that he has already seen the grace of God at work in order for him to live out his vocation as a priest.

"The Lord has truly given me the graces needed to carry out my ministry," he said. "I find it a privilege and an honor to lay down my life for Christ trusting that the Lord will allow me to be that vessel and instrument for His grace."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Before the conclusion of the Liturgy of Holy Orders, the first priestly assignment for LaRocca will be announced. The ordination will be live streamed on the Lake Charles Vocations Facebook page for those unable to attend.

A reception will follow in the Ave Maria Hall. The Cathedral is located at 935 Bilbo Street.

Bishop Provost blesses new prayer garden at OLQH

By Sarah Richard
Our Lady Queen of Heaven Parish

Bishop Glen John Provost blessed a new prayer garden at Our Lady Queen of Heaven Catholic Church on Sunday, July 13, 2025.

Two years ago, a family from Our Lady Queen of Heaven approached Monsignor Daniel Torres, Pastor, with a desire to establish a prayer garden to honor Our Lady of Lourdes.

At the same time, Monsignor Torres had also been reflecting on creating something on the north side of the church in honor of Our Lady.

After many consultations, several drafts of the garden design, and the assistance of parishioner Gayle Zembower, a final plan was accepted. With the work having reached completion, a beautiful sacred space has come to life.

The garden features statues of Our Lady of Lourdes and St. Bernadette, inviting all who visit the prayer garden to contemplate the grace of the apparitions at Lourdes and the message of prayer, penance, and healing. There are also multiple plaques — highlighting the Glorious, Joyful, Sorrowful, and Luminous Mysteries of the Rosary — that line the surrounding walls near the garden.

The donor for the project wishes to remain anonymous and hopes that all who visit will be able to pray the Rosary, ponder its mysteries, and offer intentions for their families, the living and unborn children of the world, and for healing and protection in their daily lives.

You are cordially invited to visit at any time to pray, reflect, or simply sit in silence, asking for the intercession of Our Lady of Lourdes and St. Bernadette. May this prayer garden be a blessing to all who enter it, and a reminder of Mother Mary's maternal care for the Church and for each one of us.

Upcoming Around the Diocese

International Culture Festival is Sept. 20 at LC Event Center

LAKE CHARLES — The International Culture Festival — a family evangelization event — is planned Saturday, September 20, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., at the Lake Charles Event Center. Admission is free.

The indoor festival is a way to evangelize through culture that we are all children of God.

"It will be similar to the Three Kings' Day celebration held in January the past several years at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church," said Ricardo Ruvalcaba, one of the event organizers with the International Club of Southwest Louisiana. Ruvalcaba also serves as Spanish Pastoral Assistant for the Diocese of Lake Charles.

"When Jesus said to Peter, 'Duc in altum' (Latin), 'Put out into the deep,' I believe Jesus meant that he wants his followers to always 'think big,'" said Ruvalcaba.

The six-hour festival will feature a wide variety of international dances, entertainers, international food, educational talks, an international art exhibit, an a cappella singing competition, regional costume contest, and a photo exhibition of the play "The Luminous and Sorrowful Mysteries of the Rosary," presented annually by St. Henry Catholic Church.

"The festival is a great opportunity to meet people from different cultures without having to travel far," said Ruvalcaba.

Local Food Drive for Abraham's Tent planned Aug. 24

LAKE CHARLES — The annual "Clean Out the Freezer and Pantry Day," sponsored by Sportsmen For the Hungry, in affiliation with Hunters For the Hungry, is scheduled for Sunday, August 24, 2025, from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Pathology Laboratory Parking Lot, located at 830 West Bayou Pines Drive.

A convenient drive-thru drop-off service will be provided near the Lake Street parking lot entrance.

Southwest Louisiana residents are encouraged to clean out their freezers and pantries to help feed the hungry in the local community. Donations of wrapped and labeled frozen meat and fish (wild and domestic), canned or boxed foods, rice, cooking oil, seasonings, vegetables and paper goods will be accepted.

All donations will be delivered directly to Abraham's Tent, a local non-profit organization whose mission is to provide food for the poor and hungry in Lake Charles every day of the year.

'Loving Through Loss' Workshop is Aug. 23
